What to do in Lyon ?

Lyon may not be Paris, but we still have plenty of things to see ! And our food is better... You will find below examples of things to visit while in Lyon. Of course, you can always get more information on our great city's tourism website!

Old Town: Lyon's old town dates back to the middle ages and renaissance. It is a UNESCO World Heritage site. You can walk along the old streets, check out the shops. There are a couple museums (about Lyon, about puppets, about movies), St Jean Cathedral. Take the cable car up the hill to go see the Basilica of Fourvieres, where you can get an incredible view over the whole city, then get back down through the old streets.

While in the old town, try and find a traboule, which are old streets that actually go through buildings and were used when Lyon was a center of silk industries! Also, most traditional restaurants in the city (bouchons) can be found in the district.

Roman Theatres: Lyon houses ruins dating back to the time the romans called it Lugdunum. The best example of those are the theatres, conveniently located 5 minutes walk away from Fourvieres. There is also a museum about the Romans there. The theatres are free (although the museum is not). Did you know there are still concerts organized in one of the theatre every summers?

City Center: Lyon's city center is organized around Place Bellecour. From there, you can walk up to Terreaux through an avenue lined with designer shops. Stop by the newly re-opened Grand Hotel Dieu, which used to be a hospital and has recently been converted to a mall where the old and the new architecture blend with style. On the way, you can also stop to see the Jacobins Fountain, and the Theatre des Célestins. Terreaux holds the city hall and the opera house.

Confluence: Where Lyon's two rivers meet, the district of Confluence was fully redesigned fairly recently. It showcases great examples of modern architecture, while allowing for a nice walk along the Saone River. It houses a mall, a contemporary arts museum (La Sucriere), and the natural history museum, which is kinda hard to miss, as it sits along the highway, right at the point of the district! Even if museums are not your thing, it's worth seeing just for its architecture !

Parc de la tête d'Or: Finally, if you want a bit of nature, this 105 hectares park dates back to 1857! This houses a lake, a zoo, a rose garden and the largest botanical garden in France. You can even walk there from the city centre along the Rhone river banks !
